INITIAL SEQUESTRATION REPORT FOR FISCAL YEAR 1990

A CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET OFFICE REPORT TO THE CONGRESS AND THE OFFICE OF MANAGEMENT AND BUDGET

August 21, 1989

SUMMARY

Though the federal government's budget deficit has retreated from the steep levels that prompted the enactment of the Balanced Budget Act four years ago, the deficit will not drop enough under current policies to meet the act's 1990 target, according to calculations prepared by the Congressional Budget Office (CBO). The deficit target specified by the Balanced Budget Act for 1990 is $100 billion, and CBO currently projects a federal budget deficit of $141.5 billion. If CBO's estimates were controlling. and if no further changes were made in taxing and spending policies, across-the-board reductions of 10.7 percent in defense and 15.6 percent in nondefense programs would be required to achieve the target. On August 25, 1989, the Director of the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) will issue an initial independent estimate of the projected deficit, and will determine the necessity of across-the-board spending cuts. Based on the Administration's Mid-Session Review of the 1990 Budget and laws enacted since July 18, 1989, it appears that OMB's initial estimate will exceed the target by about $16 billion.

INTRODUCTION

The Balanced Budget Act became law in December 1985 and established a series of annual budget deficit targets for the federal government that would lead to a balanced budget over five years. As amended in 1987, the Balanced Budget Act eased these annual targets and delayed the attainment of a balanced budget by one year, to fiscal year 1993. The deficit targets specified by the act are (in billions of dollars):

Fiscal Year	Maximum Deficit	Sequestration Threshold
1990	100	110
1991	64	74

For the years 1989 through 1992, the deficit projection may exceed the target by as much as $10 billion. If the Administration's deficit projection exceeds the target by more than this $10 billion margin, the act provides a procedure--known as sequestration--to cut federal spending automatically. For 1993, sequestration would be triggered if any deficit is estimated in the Administration's October 15, 1992, report.

Sequestration involves the permanent cancellation of new budget authority and other authority to obligate and expend funds, except for special and trust funds, where the sequestered amounts of spending authority remain in the funds. The sequestration of budgetary resources is designed to achieve outlay reductions sufficient to reach the annual deficit targets.

The Balanced Budget Act specifies roles for the Congressional Budget Office, the Office of Management and Budget, and the Comptroller General. CBO's role is to advise OMB and the Congress, while the Director of OMB must determine whether or not sequestration is necessary and, if so, the amount of reductions in budgetary resources and outlays required to achieve the deficit target. Each year, CBO and OMB are required to prepare independently two sets of sequestration reports. The CBO reports, which are transmitted to the Director of OMB and to the Congress, are a benchmark against which the Congress and others may assess the OMB reports. The OMB reports, which are made to the President and to the Congress, provide the basis for sequestration orders to be issued by the President. The timetable for the agency reports and sequestration orders is shown on page 3.

The initial CBO and OMB sequestration reports are based on laws that are enacted and regulations that are final at the time of a common snapshot date, August 15. The revised reports, however, must be based on laws enacted and regulations promulgated by the latest possible date before they are issued. Therefore, because the snapshot date may be different in the two agencies' final reports, some legislation and regulations reflected in one report may not be reflected in the other.

The role of the Comptroller General under the amended Balanced Budget Act is threefold: to prepare a report each year to the Congress and the President that certifies whether the final sequestration order issued by the President complies with the requirements of the Balanced Budget Act; to assess the compliance and accuracy of the OMB sequestration reports; and to make recommendations for improving sequestration procedures. The Comptroller's report is due on November 15.

This document is the initial CBO report for 1990. The report:

- Provides CBO economic assumptions used for the two baseline estimates, including the estimated rate of real economic growth for fiscal year 1990 by quarter; and Calculates the amounts and percentages by which various budgetary resources must be sequestered in order to achieve the required outlay reductions.

BUDGET BASELINE TOTALS

The CBO budget baseline estimates of total revenues, outlays, and the deficit for fiscal year 1990 are shown in Table 1. Two sets of budget baseline estimates are provided-one for laws and regulations in effect on January 1, 1989, and the other for laws and regulations in effect on August 15, 1989. The economic and technical assumptions used for the August 15 budget baseline estimates are identical to those used for the January 1 estimates. The differences between the two sets of estimates, therefore, result only from laws enacted and final regulations promulgated since January 1.

These estimates are made in accordance with the specifications set forth in the Balanced Budget Act.

When appropriations for the new fiscal year have not been enacted—and, as of August 15, none of the 1990 appropriation bills had been completed—the CBO and OMB budget baseline estimates under the act are to be based on the appropriations enacted for the previous year, with an adjustment for inflation and increased pay costs. The act specifies the inflation adjustment as the estimated annual increase in the gross national product implicit price deflator, estimated by CBO to be 4.4 percent. For 70 percent of personnel costs, this inflation factor is increased to allow for higher agency retirement costs and for pay absorption in the previous fiscal year, and is reduced to account for pay absorption in the upcoming fiscal year.

For nonappropriated spending accounts and revenues, the baseline estimates assume that current laws and regulations will continue unchanged, and that expiring provisions of law will terminate as scheduled. The Balanced Budget Act, however, provides an exception to the general treatment of expiring provisions in the cases of excise taxes dedicated to trust funds, Commodity Credit Corporation agricultural price support programs, and contract authority for transportation trust funds. As required by the act, the budget baseline estimates include the receipts and outlays of the Social Security trust funds, even though they are legally off-budget.

The Balanced Budget Act provides that asset sales and loan prepayments shall neither be included in the budget baseline estimates nor count toward any net deficit reduction. The act makes an exception for asset sales and loan prepayments that are routine and ongoing according to the practices followed in fiscal year 1986 and for asset sales mandated by law as of September 17, 1987. The budget baseline estimates may not, however, assume or reflect an acceleration of routine asset sales or loan prepayments. As Table 1 shows, $0.5 billion in prepayments of Rural Electrification Administration loans is expected in fiscal year 1990 and is excluded from the CBO baseline.

The act also prohibits the inclusion of savings resulting from the transfer of outlays, receipts, or revenues from one year to an adjacent year, except for certain types of transfers identified in law. No such savings apply to fiscal year 1990. The prohibition of timing shifts does not apply to the advancing of certain farm deficiency payments into 1989 or to the shifting of the October 1, 1989, military pay date to September 29, because these actions did not result from new laws or regulations.

Under these specifications, CBO's estimate as of August 15, 1989, of the budget baseline deficit for 1990 is $141.5 billion.

Table 1 shows the estimated budget effect of laws enacted and final regulations promulgated since January 1, 1989. The estimated increase in the deficit since January 1 of $5.5 billion stems primarily from three laws: the Financial Institutions Reform, Recovery, and Enforcement Act, intended to resolve the savings and loan crisis; the Dire Emergency Supplemental Appropriations Act of 1989; and the Disaster Assistance Act of 1989, which extends assistance to farmers affected by persistent drought conditions.

Other laws enacted and regulations promulgated since January 1 lower the budget baseline deficit for 1990 by an estimated $0.1 billion. As a result of all these changes, federal government interest costs have increased by $1.5 billion since January 1. About $1.2 billion of this increase results from an estimated $13.8 billion boost in the 1989 deficit, brought on by the savings and loan legislation.

CBO's final sequestration report will be issued on October 10, 1989, and will take into account legislation enacted after August 15. Significant deficit reduction could occur over the next two months: the Congress must act on 13 appropriation bills, as well as on legislation designed to reconcile certain permanently authorized programs with the 1990 budget resolution.

ECONOMIC ASSUMPTIONS

The principal economic assumptions underlying the CBO budget baseline estimates for fiscal year 1990 are shown in Table 2. The Balanced Budget Act requires the Directors of OMB and CBO to estimate the rate of real economic growth for the fiscal year covered by their reports, for each quarter of the fiscal year, and for the last two quarters of the preceding fiscal year. If either OMB or CBO projects real economic growth to be less than zero for any two consecutive quarters, or if the Department of Commerce reports actual real growth to have been less than 1 percent for two consecutive quarters, the Congress and the President may suspend many of the provisions of the act. Table 2 provides the CBO estimates for the rate of real economic growth and other economic variables for fiscal year 1990; Table 3 shows the quarterly estimates. CBO does not project real economic growth to be less than zero in any quarter during fiscal year 1990.

REQUIRED OUTLAY REDUCTIONS

Sequestration of budgetary resources will be necessary for 1990 if the deficit estimated by OMB exceeds the $100 billion target by more than the $10 billion margin. Once sequestration is triggered, budget outlays must be reduced by the entire amount by which the deficit exceeds $100 billion. One-half of the required outlay reduction must be taken from defense programs (budget accounts in the national defense function, 050, excluding the Federal Emergency Management Agency) and the other half from nondefense programs. CBO's deficit projection of $141.5 billion would call for outlay reductions of

a. As reported by the Department of Commerce (July 27, 1989).

If sequestration is required, the law provides that the automatic spending increases in three programs--the National Wool Act, the special milk program, and vocational rehabilitation-be eliminated and the resulting savings be applied to the required reduction in outlays for nondefense programs. According to CBO estimates, only the vocational rehabilitation program will receive an automatic spending increase in fiscal year 1990; eliminating this increase would produce $47 million in outlay savings in 1990. The outlay savings to be obtained by applying four special rules are also credited to the required spending reductions in nondefense programs. These special rules are for guaranteed student loans, foster care and adoption assistance, Medicare, and certain health programs, and are described in a later section of this report. Applying the special rules to these programs would achieve $2 billion in outlay savings in 1990.

The outlay reductions of $20.8 billion in defense programs and the remaining reductions of $18.7 billion in nondefense programs must be taken as a uniform percentage of all sequesterable budgetary resources in each category. The uniform reduction percentages are computed from outlay estimates: the required outlay savings to be achieved through across-the-board reductions are divided by the total estimated outlays from sequesterable budgetary resources in each category. The resulting uniform reduction percentages are then applied to all of the sequesterable budgetary resources (budget authority, credit authority, and other spending authority) for defense and nondefense programs.

According to CBO estimates, the 1990 outlays associated with sequesterable budgetary resources for defense programs are $193.9 billion. From this base amount, $20.8 billion in across-the-board outlay reductions must be made. The uniform percentage to be applied to sequesterable defense budgetary resources is 10.7 percent, as shown in Table 4. The Balanced Budget Act allows the President to exempt military personnel spending from sequestration, which would reduce sequesterable outlays by about $75 billion; an exemption has not been issued this year. If the President had exempted military personnel spending from sequestration, the required reduction in other defense spending would have been 17.5 percent.

The 1990 outlays associated with budgetary resources for nondefense programs subject to across-the-board reduction are estimated to be $119.6 billion. To achieve $18.7 billion in nondefense outlay reductions, a 15.6 percent across-the-board reduction in nondefense sequesterable resources is required.

Table 5 lists budget baseline outlays for 1990. Defense outlays total $300.6 billion, of which $193.9 billion is subject to sequestration. In defense programs, unlike nondefense programs, the law specifies that spending from unobligated balances is subject to sequestration. Since the President has decided not to exempt military personnel spending, the only defense outlays that are not subject to sequestration are those resulting from previously appropriated budget authority that has already been obligated.

Nondefense baseline outlays for 1990 total $911.8 billion. Of this amount, only $113.4 billion is subject to across-the-board reduction. An additional $6.3 billion in 1991 Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) outlays is counted under Balanced Budget Act specifications; together, these amounts yield the nondefense outlay base of $119.6 billion shown in Table 4. As Table 5 shows, a large percentage of nondefense outlays is exempted by law from the sequestration process. Social Security benefits, net interest payments, certain low-income programs, most federal retirement and disability benefits, veterans compensation and pensions, and regular state unemployment insurance benefits account for the largest exemptions. Outlays from appropriations for nondefense programs made in previous years are also not subject to sequestration.

The calculations in this report generally assume that all nonexempt budgetary resources can be sequestered in order to produce outlay savings, including entitlement programs and other mandatory spending programs where the spending authority is not controlled through the annual appropriation process. An exception is made for the administrative expenses of the Postal Service. While more than $1 billion of budgetary resources of the Postal Service is sequesterable under CBO estimates, no outlay savings are attributed by CBO to this sequestration because the Administration appears to have no mechanism for enforcing a sequestration order on the Postal Service. The Congress is currently considering legislation that would remove the Postal Service from federal budget totals and exempt it from sequestration calculations.

SPECIAL RULES

The Balanced Budget Act provides special rules for the sequestration of budgetary resources for certain federal programs. This section describes these special rules and their application to the 1990 sequestration calculations. The estimated outlay savings derived from the first four rules are shown separately in Table 4. Any outlay savings resulting from the remaining special rules are included in the amount to be obtained from the uniform percentage reductions.

Guaranteed Student Loan Program

The Balanced Budget Act requires two changes in the guaranteed student loan (GSL) program to occur automatically under sequestration. First, the statutory factor for calculating the quarterly special allowance payments to lenders will be reduced by the lesser of 0.40 percentage point or the amount by which the statutory factor exceeds 3 percent for the first four quarters after the loan is made. Under the current program, the reduction will be 0.25 percentage point. Second, a student's origination fee will increase by 0.50 percentage point. In both cases, sequestration affects only GSL loans disbursed during

- No 1990 payment increase is expected for this program, based on declining wool support price levels in marketing year 1989.

the applicable fiscal year, but after the order is issued. For 1990, these changes are estimated by CBO to reduce outlays by $26 million.

Foster Care and Adoption Assistance Programs

The Balanced Budget Act limits the amount to be sequestered in the foster care and adoption assistance programs to increases in foster care maintenance payment rates or adoption assistance payment rates taking effect during the current fiscal year. Moreover, the amounts are limited to the extent that the reduction can be made by reducing federal matching payments by a uniform percentage across states. The increases in payment rates for these programs are made by the states and localities. Any increases planned by the states for fiscal year 1990 were included in the CBO calculations for sequestration reductions. The estimated outlay savings in 1990 from sequestration are $4 million.

Medicare

The sequestration reductions in the Medicare program are to be achieved by reducing payment amounts for covered services. No changes in coinsurance or deductible amounts are to be made, and covered services are unaffected under a sequestration order. Under such an order, each payment amount for services provided during the fiscal year would be reduced by a maximum of 2 percent relative to whatever level of payment would otherwise be made under Medicare laws and regulations. According to CBO estimates, the outlay savings to be achieved in 1990 by applying this special rule are $1.8 billion.

Veterans Medical Care and Other Health Programs

The Balanced Budget Act limits reductions in budget authority for the nonadministrative expenditures for veterans medical care, community and migrant health centers, and Indian health services and facilities to 2 percent in 1990 and any subsequent year. The estimated outlay savings to be achieved in 1990 by applying this special rule to these programs are $204 million.

Child Support Enforcement Program

In the child support enforcement (CSE) program, the Balanced Budget Act provides that sequestration of entitlement payments to states is to be accomplished by reducing the federal matching rates for state administrative expenses. For 1990, the federal matching rates on most expenditures under CBO estimates would be reduced from 66 percent to 55.7 percent, and the rate for computer-related and laboratory expenditures would be reduced from 90 percent to 76 percent. These reductions in the matching rates are necessary to achieve the same 15.6 percent reduction applied to other nondefense programs.

If states increase their share of CSE spending to maintain total program spending at the expected 1990 level, this reduction in the federal matching rate will lower federal outlays by the same percentage as other nondefense programs. If states do not increase their 1990 budgeted amounts to compensate for lower matching rates, however, the lower federal matching rate would result in a larger percentage reduction in federal spending than the act requires. The estimated outlay savings that are to be achieved in 1990 by applying this special rule are $200 million.

Unemployment Compensation Programs

The Balanced Budget Act provides that the following items are not to be sequestered: regular state unemployment benefits, the state share of extended unemployment benefits, unemployment benefits paid to former federal employees and former members of the armed services, and loans and advances to the state and federal unemployment accounts. The federal share of extended benefits, unemployment insurance for railroad employees, other federally paid benefits, and state and federal administrative expenses are subject to sequestration.

Both the federal and state shares of extended unemployment benefits are paid from the Unemployment Trust Fund-the federal share from a federal account and the state share from each state's account. State law sets the amount of each weekly extended benefit. The Balanced Budget Act permits any state to reduce the weekly extended benefit amount by a percentage equal to the uniform reduction in the federal share. If states do not change their laws to provide for such a reduction, the weekly benefit payments will not be reduced, the state share will increase by the amount of the decrease in the federal share, and total budget outlays that include both federal and state benefits will not be changed by the sequestration. No states are currently paying extended benefits.

Commodity Credit Corporation

Under the Balanced Budget Act, payments and loan eligibility under any contract entered into by the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) after a sequestration order has been issued for a fiscal year are subject to a percentage reduction. The act requires that reductions for all farm commodities supported by the CCC be made in a uniform manner, including all noncontract programs, projects, and activities within the CCC's jurisdiction. The act further stipulates that outlay reductions in the post-sequestration year that are the result of contract adjustments in the sequestration year should be credited to the overall outlay reduction required in the sequestration year. The outlay savings to be achieved by applying this special rule are estimated by CBO to be $1.0 billion in 1990, and $1.0 billion in 1991. The actual amount of savings realized in each year will depend upon how the sequestration is carried out for the various CCC programs. In accordance with the act, however, all $2.0 billion of these estimated outlay savings are credited toward the $20.8 billion reduction in nondefense spending required for 1990.

Federal Pay

The Balanced Budget Act provides that rates of pay or any scheduled pay increases may not be reduced following a sequestration order. For members of the armed services, this provision applies to rates of basic pay, basic subsistence allowances, and basic quarter allowances. Budgetary resources available for federal pay, however, will be subject to sequestration as part of the reduction of administrative expenses, which include travel, printing, supplies, and other services. The total amount of government-wide savings to be achieved in 1990 from employee compensation cannot be estimated because program managers are expected to be urged not to resort to personnel furloughs and reductions in force until other administrative expenses are reduced as much as possible.

CONCEPTUAL ISSUES

In preparing its initial sequestration report for 1990, CBO has identified a few areas of ambiguity in the interpretation of the Balanced Budget Act. Some of these uncertainties affect the computation of the baseline deficit, while others involve the determination of whether or not a particular budget account is subject to sequestration.

Baseline Issues

In developing the 1990 baseline estimates for national defense, CBO has taken as its starting point the 1989 budget authority figures shown in the Administration's Mid-Session Review of the 1990 Budget. These figures reflect expected transfers of budget authority from one account to another, which the Secretary of Defense can make under existing legislative authority. The OMB estimate of the Balanced Budget Act baseline contained in the Mid-Session Review is predicated on 1989 budget authority figures that do not reflect expected transfers. CBO's assumption adds $0.9 billion to 1990 defense outlays and the deficit because the transfers are, on balance, from slow-spending to fast-spending accounts.

CBO and OMB also make different assumptions about pay absorption--the portion of the January 1989 pay raise that was not reflected in 1989 appropriations and that agencies had to accommodate through reductions in other spending. CBO assumes that the 1989 pay raise for civilian agency employees was fully absorbed, and that the Department of Defense absorbed 42 percent of the pay raise for civilian personnel and 7 percent of the military pay raise. CBO bases its assumption on language in the 13 appropriation bills and the accompanying conference reports for 1989. OMB, however, assumes that there was no pay absorption in fiscal year 1989. CBO's assumption adds $0.2 billion to defense spending and $1.0 billion to nondefense outlays.

Although not affecting the 1990 deficit estimate, several issues involving expiring entitlement programs merit clarification if the Congress considers modifications to the Balanced Budget Act. While entitlements and other mandatory spending are generally projected in accord with current laws, the act provides that agricultural price support programs are to be continued at current rates. The meaning of the term "current rates," however, should be clarified. It has been interpreted both as a constant level of target prices and as a constant rate of decline in target prices. Also, the act does not provide for the continuation of the Food Stamp program (even though it is authorized by the same law that authorizes farm price supports), guaranteed student loans, or trade adjustment assistance. If one of these programs were to expire in the budget year, as Food Stamps will do at the beginning of fiscal year 1991, the baseline estimate would be sharply reduced and sequestration would be unlikely. Such circumstances would limit the realism and usefulness of the baseline.

Sequestration Issues

One problematic area is the treatment of three entitlement programs created by the Family Support Act of 1988. The three new programs are designed to benefit families receiving Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC)--the Job Opportunities and Basic Skills training program (JOBS), child care for families who are in the JOBS program, and extended child care for families who cease to receive AFDC. Pending clarification of their treatment, both CBO and OMB have assumed that the JOBS program is subject to sequestration and that the two child care programs are exempt. The child care funds are authorized under the same part of the Social Security Act (Title IV-A) that authorizes AFDC, which is exempt from sequestration. The JOBS program, however, is distinct from AFDC. Many of its requirements are set out in a different part of the law (Title IV-F), a separate state plan is required, and funding is separate.

CBO and OMB differ with respect to the treatment of the administrative expenses of the vaccine improvement program trust fund. Section 2115(f)(3) of the Public Health Service Act exempts from sequestration any payments of vaccine injury compensation. Because no explicit exemption is provided for administrative expenses, CBO regards them as sequesterable, although OMB treats the entire program as exempt. If such ambiguities are to be avoided, as CBO and OMB have previously noted, exempting programs from sequestration should be accomplished by amending the specifications for the sequestration report contained in the Balanced Budget Act.

CBO and OMB continue to disagree over the treatment of the Treasury's payments to the Farm Credit System Financial Assistance Corporation for interest and the Railroad Retirement Board's supplemental annuity pension fund. In conformance with the opinion of the General Accounting Office, CBO regards these programs as exempt from sequestration.

SEQUESTRATION REDUCTIONS

A summary of CBO's calculations for the sequestration of budgetary resources and the estimated outlay savings for 1990 is provided for national defense programs in Table 7 and for nondefense programs by function in Table 8. The tables show CBO's budget baseline estimates for new budget authority and outlays, reductions in outlays caused by sequestration, and post-sequestration spending levels. In most instances, additional outlay savings would be gained in 1991 and later years as a result of the cancellation of 1990 budget authority. Interest costs would also be permanently lowered as a result of reduced federal borrowing needs. Savings in later vears have not been estimated for this report. A detailed list of the sequestration base and reductions by agency and budget account by type of spending authority is provided as an appendix to this report.

The CBO sequestration calculations and postsequestration spending levels are advisory only. OMB will determine whether a sequestration is triggered and, if so, the actual sequestration amounts. OMB's initial determination will be issued on August 25.
